"SARAH" TEA

Be Careful!

On Dominion Day in a riot at Regina, precipitated by relief camp strikers when police attempted the arrest of their leaders, one man was killed, in the neighborhood of one hundred persons more or less seriously injured, and damage done to property estimated at around $25,000. The news of this happening filled the papers, newspaper's "extras" flooded the streets, reports were telegraphed all over the continent, and cables carried the news to Great Britain and foreign lands. For a time it was almost the sole topic of conversation, and called forth questionings and discussions in the House of Commons. The Federal Government promised a searching investigation.

The Ontario Government is publishing a series of advertisements in the newspapers of that province. One such advertisement appearing almost simultaneously with the Regina riot says: "In Ontario, during 1934, there were nearly 10,000 automobile accidents, 512 people were killed, 8,900 people were injured, a considerable increase over 1933." No estimate was given of the property damage resulting from these 10,000 accidents, but it must have reached a total well up into the hundreds of thousands of dollars, if not into the millions.

Here are two sets of figures—two pictures if you will. Just consider them for a moment.

In the one instance, one man was killed and approximately 100 persons injured, most of them only slightly. Yet the whole Dominion is shocked, parliament is aroused, the law has been ignored, flouted, a crime committed. Immediate government action is demanded by practically all the people.

In the other instance, over five hundred times as many people were killed, thousands were injured, many of whom were maimed and disabled for life, property damage was enormous. But only a passing mention in the local newspapers at the time of each accident, and possibly some casual local comment, but, generally speaking, the public displays little concern and accepts the situation with smug complacency.

Is it not time that the Canadian people shed their indifference in regard to these day by day highway tragedies, and bestir themselves to put an end to such wholesale killing? The Ontario Government says in its advertisement that "Ontario must start 'thinking' safety; that it must be evident to all thinking people that 'this must stop'."

But how is it to be stopped? It is quite correct to say that people must "think" safety; but they must put their thinking into actual practice and "act" safely. But, people will say, in the Regina incident the law was broken. But, so, too, was the law broken in the vast majority of these automobile accidents. Our provincial statute books, and our municipal by-laws, (even with laws and regulations governing the operation of automobiles. Constituted authority has done its part in endeavoring to provide for safety, and to the best of its ability it endeavors to enforce these laws and regulations, but it is an enormous task over hundreds of thousands of miles of roads and highways.

There is only one way to stop manslaughter on the highways, and that is for the individual motorists to stop it—stop it by strictly obeying the laws which have been enacted for their protection and for the protection of others. It is disregard of the law that is the root cause of the trouble.

Motors must discipline themselves; not be disciplined by the law. It is pointed out, for example, that there were more than 800 bicyclist riders killed or injured in Ontario last year. Bicyclists, especially children, are often careless. This simply means that drivers of motor vehicles must be "twice" as careful. They must remember that they are in the heavier vehicle. At stop streets and intersections they must "stop". Instead of taking so many things for granted, they must make sure that brakes, tires, lights, are effective; otherwise serious trouble may lie ahead.

Owing to economic conditions of recent years, many worn out and poorly equipped cars are being used. Drivers of these should be exceptionally careful. New makes of cars are more powerful, speedier, and the drivers of these are under a greater responsibility than ever before. They must remember that the old cars are not so speedy, and govern themselves accordingly when passing such cars. These are only a few "musts"; there are many others that might be mentioned.

Some motorists resent all these laws and regulations. They deliberately ignore "stop" signs, and take all manner of chances while knowing their action is contrary to law. But with the mounting toll of deaths and accidents there is bound to be more law, not less, greater restrictions instead of fewer of them. Public opinion will demand and insist on this. So if motorists desire to be free of so much law, they must refrain from being a law unto themselves; rather they must discipline themselves and not act as if they were above all law.

On the other hand, pedestrians and others than motorists using the highways must recognize that motorists have certain rights which ought to be respected. It is largely through the payment of license fees and gas taxes by motorists that our modern highways have been created and are maintained for the use of all. And accidents are by no means uncommon where the motorist is entirely blameless.

Canadians are reputed to be a law-abiding people. A riot is an exceptional occurrence in this country. Law must be respected and obeyed. But in view of the awful death and accident toll on our highways, there should be—must be—not merely observance of the letter of the law, but the whole spirit of it. In a word, the most important law of all for motorists, pedestrians, and others, is "Be Careful". Being careful, practising safety first, will result in the observance of all law.

Makes Ideal Insulator

Unexpected virtues have been discovered in the lowly seaweed. When tightly packed it forms an ideal insulating material, keeping out cold, noise, water, or even fire. Scientific tests prove that a mat of seaweed half an inch thick is more effective than a brick wall twelve inches thick. The seaweed has besides only one-fourth the weight of ordinary insulating material.

Must Have General Knowledge

Recruits To Metropolitan Police Have Tricky Test

Sombody should revise that song, one line of which runs "If you want to know the time ask a policeman!" These days it does not go nearly far enough in London.

For instance—do you want to know the advantages of the hire purchase system to the buyer? Or to the seller? If you are at all curious about it—ask a policeman.

Or do you want to know why a steel ship floats? Ask a policeman.

If in an unduly enquiring mood you can ask the same constable why a fire burns more rapidly if a newspaper is placed in front of it, why a steam engine has a fly-wheel; why tinned goods remain in good condition for a considerable time; why lead is commonly used for water pipes in houses.

Or being of a more sporting than scientific frame of mind, ask the same constable to describe to you what is meant by a knock-out, even on the field, a styxie, catching a crab or body-line bowling.

The new policeman will be able to answer you with ease on each or all of these points, and a good many others besides.

The reason? Well, these were some of the questions given to recruits to the Metropolitan force, and they were only allowed an hour in which to answer them.

There were more, even more tricky, but the above is a good sample.

Astronomer Views Sun Spots

These Spectacles Resemble Large Whirlpools Of Flame

Whirlpools of flame, large enough to swallow up the earth, are marching across the face of the sun.

Clouds stayed away from the sun long enough recently to give H. S. McClung, Regina optometrist and amateur astronomer, and visitors a glimpse of the sun spots.

The spots at present consist of a group of three or four near one edge of the sun's face and a single large one near the opposite side of the 850,000-mile wide disk.

Sun spots, similar to cyclonic disturbances in the earth's atmosphere, are whirlpools or whirlwinds in the brilliant outer envelopes of the sun, exposing the darker inner portion.

About two years ago a period of sun spot activity was entered and the activity will last for about another nine years.

Some persons attribute disturbed weather conditions on the earth to the sun spots. They are believed to produce, also, spectacular displays of northern lights.

Study Water Resources

Engineers Now Engaged In Work Over Wide Area

Geological survey of the southern drought section of Saskatchewan is under way.

Recently, 80 senior students, drawn from the engineering department of the Saskatchewan University, started work.

Travelling in 16 up-to-date motor trucks, the survey parties will investigate water resources of approximately 100,000 square miles in southern Saskatchewan and southwestern Alberta.

The survey party has been organized into 20 sub-parties, each comprising an engineering graduate and two senior students.

The work is being conducted under the direction of Dr. B. R. MacKay, Dominion geologist, and the area extends from the Manitoba boundary west to near Lethbridge, and from the international boundary north to near Saskatoon.

Empty House Costly

Manor Heath, one of the most famous mansions of Halifax, England, and the house in which the King and Queen resided in 1912, has been standing empty since the city bought it for $92,500, five and one-half years ago. It has been estimated that, with the cost of upkeep plus the interest on the purchase price, Manor Heath is costing Halifax $500 every month.

Millionaires Leaving

Heavy Taxation Cause Of Canada Losing Two Wealthy Citizens

The Toronto Telegram says "Canada is to lose two of her wealthiest citizens, and, incidentally with their departure the federal government's annual income tax will be reduced by several million dollars."

The recent report that William H. Wright, with an annual income of about $2,000,000, is definitely leaving Canada, is now followed by one that Harry Oakes, who possesses an income of nearly $3,000,000 a year, may also leave the country to reside permanently in England," says the Telegram.

"The income tax paid by these two men alone to the federal government amounts to nearly $3,000,000 each year," according to the Telegram.

While Mr. Wright, vice-president of Lake Shore Mines and vice-president of Wright-Hargreaves Mines, has definitely announced his intention to leave Canada, the Telegram adds "color is lent to the reported exodus of Mr. Oakes by his recent resignation from the presidency of Lake Shore Mines."

According to the Telegram, Mr. Oakes has bought a house in London, England, and it is rumored he will take up residence in the Channel Islands. Mr. Wright leaves in September for the Channel Islands and may visit Bermuda before he decides where he will make his new home, says the Telegram.

Rust Resisting Wheat

Scientists Have Advanced Far Towards Reaching The Goal

Hope for development of rust resisting winter wheat was focused by Prof. T. A. Kieselbach of the University of Nebraska upon the state's present stem rust scourge. Spring wheat scientists, he pointed out, already have advanced far toward this goal. The noted agronomist said the 1935 fungus threat spared a generation-old search for immune varieties of grain. He is experimenting now with a special strain that may greatly reduce the susceptibility of winter wheat to stem rust.

He pointed to the planting of 3,000,000 acres of "Ceres" spring wheat, developed largely by Dean C. B. Waldron of the North Dakota Agricultural College, and said it would not suffer half as much from stem rust as other varieties.

Toronto Man Tells Weird Yarn About A Fish

Five Toronto fishermen declare this to be a true fish story. When Walter Sampson, Toronto, landed a large bass at Lindsay it fell on a rock, rearing itself of the hook. Then it reared up and started dancing straight at him.

The bewildered fisherman picked up a heavy stone to stop the fantastic progress of his catch, when he noticed the fish was being borne swiftly along by a four-foot water snake.

The snake glided to the water's edge where it released the fish, which swam quickly away.

Soviet Aviator Takes Three Passengers On Trial Trip

With three passengers F. M. Kukankov, veteran Soviet flyer, recently took off from Moscow, Russia, on a flight scheduled to end at Wrangel Island, and to cover en route the polar and sea-trading stations of the Main Administration of the Northern Sea Route. The flight covered nearly 11,000 miles. The object of the trip, a test for both plane and pilot, was to ascertain the advisability of carrying passengers on such a long flight, and to check up on the work of the polar stations and their preparations for the coming navigation season.

Fast Train

Germany Has A New Streamlined Streaker

Nazis unveiled their latest in railroad engineering, the new super-streamlined "Dashing Colonne", which streaked the 355 miles between Cologne and Berlin in five hours, nine minutes. This was not a record, but engineers claim the cream and violet colored Diesel-electric engine can reach a top speed of 120 miles an hour and is therefore the world's fastest train. It pulled two coaches, holding 81 passengers.

British Mystery Air Craft

Claimed To Be The World's Heaviest Armed Air Fighter

The new British mystery aeroplane "Fairly Fantome," claimed to be the heaviest armed air fighter in the world, will be brought from its closely-guarded hangar at Hendon soon to roar over the heads of experts in a display for the Society of British Air Craft constructors.

The ship carries four machine guns, one on each lower wing and two atop the fuselage, and also a quick firing gun which throws 20-millimeter shells.

The magazine of this gun carries 60 shells, fired through the propeller hub instead of through synchronized spaces of the whirling blades.

This new machine, expected to reach a speed of 250 miles per hour, has been secretly constructed at a British factory to compete in the international fighting plane competition to be held in Belgium in July.

Hon. H. H. Stevens Accepts Leadership Of New Political Party

Ottawa.—Hon. H. H. Stevens announced Sunday night he had accepted the leadership of a new political party. The party would have for its object a "reconstruction and reform program" similar to that which he had been advocating for the past 18 months, the former minister of trade and commerce stated. The name and platform of the new party will be announced in a week's time.

The new party would be "in the fight very soon" and will be putting up candidates in all constituencies in the coming general election. He would make a trans-Canada speaking tour as soon as the campaign was launched.

His decision was made during the week-end after a conference with a provisional executive of the new organization composed of Warren Cook, Toronto; Thomas D. Lison, Hamilton; and Thomas V. Bell, Montreal, "three prominent and moderate business men." The delegation had come to Ottawa following a meeting in Hamilton of representatives from the different provinces representing various classes of people in Canada, Mr. Stevens said.

"On Saturday last," Mr. Stevens stated in an announcement issued, "a delegation representing many thousands of citizens resident in all parts of Canada, waiting upon me and presented a petition asking that I accept leadership of a party having for its object a reconstruction and reform program similar to that which I have been advocating during the past 18 months.

"This delegation, on behalf of those whom they represent, claimed the right to present this program to the people of Canada so that their views might be expressed thereon. Furthermore, they declare—and agree with them—that it is contrary to the spirit of true Canadian democracy that our country's economic life should pass under the control of a privileged class, which, unfortunately, is exactly what has occurred. It is contended also that it is the duty of the Dominion government to protect our people from unfair exploitation, and to ensure to them equitable treatment, and, to the youth of Canada, a free opportunity for a normal Canadian livelihood.

"As I share these views, and realizing both old parties are indissolubly involved in the present system of concentration of control of wealth, I have decided to accept this call to leadership, believing in this way we can secure for the people the best opportunity to express their views."

The announcement of the former minister was made at a press conference. Headquarters of the new organization would be in Ottawa. He would be a candidate in the general election, Mr. Stevens stated in answer to a volley of questions, although he did not indicate in what constituency. East Kootenay, B.C., which he had represented in parliament, had not held its Conservative convention to select a standard bearer, he remarked, "but naturally I will not be running as a Conservative candidate."

The three delegates had presented him with a petition from the Hamilton meeting, the former minister said. While Mr. Cook was president of the Garment Manufacturers' Association, Mr. Bell was head of a printing and binding business in Montreal, and Mr. Lison was well known in the publishing business in Hamilton, the three "simply are acting as citizens."

Senator May Resign

Will Leave 17th Vacant Seat In Upper House

Ottawa.—While the resignation had not been presented to the Dominion government or the speaker of the Senate, it is understood Senator John McLean (Cons., Souris) intends to resign his seat in the Upper House. Illness has prevented the 88-year-old Maritime Senator, oldest member in the upper chamber, from attending in the Senate last session of this year.

When it does occur, the resignation of Senator McLean will create the 17th vacancy in the upper chamber. Hon. J. A. Macdonald, member of the Bennett cabinet for the upper chamber, is mentioned prominently as successor of Senator McLean.

Japanese Steamer Sinks

Collides With Freighter And Over 100 Persons Drown

Osaka, Japan.—The collision of a small Japanese steamer with a freighter on the pitch dark, fog-bound Japanese inland sea claimed 104 lives, a checkup by shipping officials disclosed.

Crowded with holiday passengers the steamer Midori Maru ran aground with the freighter Senzan Maru and sank almost immediately. Rescue vessels, including the Zenzan Maru, picked up 91 of the 166 passengers of the Midori Maru and 50 members of the crew of 85 the storm-tossed sea. Eleven bodies were recovered, including those of three women and an infant.

Heavy Rains In B.C.

Nelson, B.C.—Damage to highways and bridges has been fairly heavy in the Kootenay and Okanagan districts where rivers and creeks have been swollen to new flood levels by the heaviest rains in 10 years, British Columbia public works officials here said. The Mission river at Kelowna has broken all flood records.

New Wheat Board Bill

Farmer May Now Sell Under Two Plans

Ottawa.—The interpretation of the new wheat board bill as viewed by the special committee of the House which revamped it, was explained by John Vallance (Lib., South Battleford), one of the members of the committee.

"Let us take for example a minimum price of 70 cents a bushel," said Mr. Vallance. "The producer would have to decide whether he would turn over his wheat at that price to the board and be entitled to further payments if the board operated at profit or sell out entirely at a higher price to the grain trade."

"The minimum price would be fixed at the start of the crop year. Provision is made that 'the price would not be lowered during the crop year and there would be no object in increasing it during a crop year for the producers in any event would get the benefit of any higher price the wheat might bring.' This act differs from the Argentine method in that under control in that country the board only buys when at the minimum price and pays no premium to producers if it makes a profit."

"The new bill is fairly acceptable to Liberal members of the committee with the important exception that they wanted the board appointed for one year only with provision for extending it from year to year if thought necessary. The measure on the other hand makes the board permanent unless eliminated by act of parliament."

Air Liner Reported Lost

Believed To Have Fallen Into Channel Off Isle of Wight

Portsmouth, Eng.—A destroyer and Royal Air Force flying boats searched in vain for a British air liner reported to have fallen into the channel off the Isle of Wight after sending out SOS calls. No trace of the wreckage was found but a patch of oil on the surface about 10 miles from shore gave a clue to the probable fate of the two persons aboard, Pilot Captain Ogden, 30, and a passenger named Grainger. The machine was flying to England from the Channel Islands.

Address Of Appreciation

House Of Commons Regrets The Coming Retirement Of Governor-General

Ottawa.—An address of respect and appreciation to the governor-general, the Earl of Bessborough, was passed unanimously by the House of Commons. It expressed regret at his coming retirement and thanks for his services to Canada during his term of office.

It was moved by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and seconded by Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader.

More Work On Railways

C.P.R. Shops To Be Busy With Repairs To Equipment

Montreal.—With extensive repairs to equipment scheduled, Canadian Pacific Railway main shops will work 17 days in July instead of the usual 14 working days, it is announced at company headquarters.

The shops affected are those at Macdonald Junction, N.S., the Angus shops at Montreal, North Bay, Toronto, Weston shops at Winnipeg, Ogden shops at Calgary and the Vancouver shops.

The railway a week ago announced impending purchase of new rolling stock and repairs to credit scheme arranged by the Dominion government for the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National.

The extra repair work has made necessary the extension of working days and will bring more work to many men.

Bonus To Be Paid

Farmers Shipping Milk To Cheese Factories Will Profit

Ottawa.—For the month of July, a bonus of 1½ cents a pound will be paid all farmers who ship milk to cheese factories, Minister of Agriculture Robert Weir announced in the House of Commons.

The money will come from a fund of $1,000,000 which the House considered as a means of equalizing dairy prices.

Primary reason for the cheese bonus was to prevent farmers switching production from cheese to butter and forcing down prices to world figures.

First bonuses will be paid in July, the minister said, through the cheese factories. It would be at least 1½ cents a pound and might run to 1½ cents.

Premier Celebrates Birthday

Ottawa.—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett received congratulations on the occasion of his 65th birthday. Born at Hopewell, N.B., July, 1870, he was first elected to the House of Commons in 1911, was chosen Conservative leader in October, 1927, and was sworn in as prime minister on August 7, 1930.

Election Is Seen In September As Parliament Prorogues

Ottawa.—Prorogation of parliament was reached Friday afternoon, July 5, when the governor-general, the Earl of Bessborough, gave royal assent to the remaining bills, thus closing the closing speech from the throne.

Only a handful of spectators were present in the sunlit senate chamber when the few commoners who had remained for the final ceremonies trooped down the corridor to hear the words that would end the fifth and last session of Canada's 17th parliament since confederation.

Mr. Bennett renewed his promise to his followers in the House of Commons, that he would remain as their leader so long as his health permitted. The announcement was received with cheers and applause.

When he left the caucus chamber, Mr. Bennett told reporters that he proposed to lead the party through the campaign if his health was maintained.

It was understood Mr. Bennett would take a long rest as soon as he got away, with Rt. Hon. Sir George Perley taking over an acting prime minister in his absence. With the general election not expected until September, and probably late in that month, there would be ample opportunity for the prime minister to take two or three weeks rest.

"As soon as necessary arrangements can be made for a general election it will be held," Mr. Bennett announced.

Frown On Seances

Bishop Of London Warns People Against Spiritualism

London.—The bishop of London, Rt. Rev. A. F. Winnington Ingram, issued an order forbidding any church building in his diocese to be used for seances and warned people against the "evil" of getting in touch with spirits through spiritualism. Writing in his diocesan leaflet, he urged them to give up "this unauthorized attempt to communicate with the other world," and described such efforts as "very dangerous, dishonouring to the dead and waste of time for the living."

Trade Treaty With Poland

Ottawa.—Premier R. B. Bennett announced in the House of Commons a trade treaty has been signed between Canada and Poland. He tabled a copy.

Announcement the government had decided, after conferring with the provinces, to appoint a royal commission to make "a thorough investigation of our national health problems," a review of government legislation contained in the speech from the throne at prorogation.

The governor-general took occasion to make personal reference to his imminent departure.

Bringing to a close the sixth and last session of Canada's 17th parliament since confederation, the throne speech expressed confidence reform measures enacted during last six months would be beneficial and that the economic council in particular would be an important factor in the "new approach on the part of governments throughout the world to financial and economic problems."

Canada now enjoyed the most favorable interest rates in her history, and reference was made to low interest rates arranged for farmers and fishermen's loans.

"My official connection with Canada is drawing to a close," Lord Bessborough said. "My interest in the Dominion, however, will not terminate with my departure from its hospitable shores. I shall continue to watch its progress and development with deep and abiding interest and the sincere hope and belief that, under God's providence, it will ever increasingly prosper."

New Tariff Adjustment

B.C. Premier Sees Necessity Of Revision Of B.N.A. Act

Prince Rupert, B.C.—Necessity of a revision of the British North America Act as it affects the relations of the provinces with the Dominion was stressed by Premier T. D. Pattullo in a luncheon address. The necessity of such revision was being recognized with unanimity all over Canada, the premier said, even in Ontario and Quebec and it was important the people of this province should realize it.

"Such adjustment is permit of fairer treatment for British Columbia in relation to the east and a redefinition of sources of revenue and taxation for Dominion, provinces and municipalities to eliminate overlapping and ease as far as possible the tax on land with the essential Premier Pattullo declared.

Britain Making Efforts To Prevent War In Ethiopia

London.—Great Britain is making strenuous efforts to stop war between Italy and Ethiopia. British ministers are reported to be unanimous in a decision to uphold the League of Nations but divided upon a resort to sanctions should Italy declare war.

"The existence of the league is at stake," says the Daily Herald. "If the league stands by, it is dead."

"The league," comments the Daily Express, "must either abandon Abyssinia to her fate or try to stop Italy by economic or military pressure."

"If she does the first the league will be broken; if she applies pressure the system of collective security—which means a collaboration of Britain, Italy and Russia, to keep Germany in her place—will crash."

From both sides of the common members battered the government in proposed cession of a strip of British Somaliland to preserve the peace between Italy and Ethiopia.

Anthony Eden, British minister for League of Nations affairs, made a "tentative proposal" of cession during his conversations with Benito Mussolini at Rome. In return for the concession she made Italy, Ethiopia was to receive a corridor to the sea through British Somaliland.

The tone of the questions which were mostly from normal supporters of the government, were highly critical. They were turned on Malcolm MacDonald, secretary for the colonies, and Anthony Eden alike.

Mr. Eden said, "It is the policy of His Majesty's government to keep the house fully informed of such matters. The tentative proposal concerned a small strip of British Somaliland. This represented an offer to reach a settlement of a situation which His Majesty's government regards with grave concern."

"It was put forward solely in order to find out from Mussolini whether if His Majesty's government made a proposal on these lines it was likely to commend itself to the Italian government as a constructive contribution toward a settlement of the dispute between Italy and Ethiopia. The house will appreciate that it could not have published in advance its communication to Mussolini. Had it been accepted it would have been communicated to the house and the government would have entered into consultation with the French government as a co-signatory to the 1916 treaty."

say that the power and prerogative of the senate—of amendment or rejection of any measure which comes to it from the other house, with the exception possibly on the raising of taxes—is ample and complete and is not at all affected by the fact that the measure embodies a policy of the House of Commons or the Government."

Twenty-two amendments by the banking and commerce committee to the bill establishing the trade commission were designed to make the measure practicable in its operation and less vulnerable from constitutional attack, Senator Meighen said. One of the changes was to provide that here an order to deist was made by the commission in unfair practice proceedings, disobedience of the order would be followed by a recommendation to the attorney-general for prosecution.

The amendment to the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act, withdrawing application of the act to British Columbia, provided the bill would not become law until proclaimed by the governor-in-council.

"This gives the government of British Columbia the opportunity to determine what course they will pursue," Senator Meighen remarked in reference to the provincial government's challenge of the validity of the act.

"Perhaps the Dominion government will change its course," Senator Dandurand said. "The Dominion government is not given any chance in the bill to change its course and does not ask for any chance to change its course," Senator Meighen returned.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Time was in the Crows Nest Pass, if one ventured to ask a question at a Red meeting, he was speedily booted down. Now, if "Reds" ask questions at Social Credit meetings, they are just as promptly booted down as they did others.

Emotional appeals sweep people from their feet and temporarily derange their reasoning powers, but in the end they come back to earth and find that only sound principles prevail. An editorial in the Calgary Albertan expressed itself thus:

"It seems that in their sympathy with unemployed people a number of well-meaning persons are in danger of being enticed away from the side of law and order and being persuaded to line up with its enemies."

News despatches contain names of men with the prefix of "Reverend" abetting and aiding relief camp strikers in their defiance of the law, and referring to the Federal government in condemnatory terms. Experience shows that Communist-led bodies of men cannot be handled with kid gloves, neither do they themselves believe in kid-glove methods. Their cry is "militant action," in plain words meaning force. Yet reverend gentlemen from near and afar apparently approve and give words of sympathy and encouragement to those who would clean those whom they term "parasites" from their path.

Human nature is indeed a most interesting study. In the mass it is as feeble as the winds that blow. That is why strong leaders are needed in times of crisis in democratic countries, and dictators in those countries which sacrifice some of the principles of democracy.

Rail as people may of Premier Bennett's five years of office, he has not side-stepped nor pussyfooted or pandered to his critics. He stopped the march to Ottawa once he found that he could not secure co-operation from provincial premiers opposed to him, and he did the public a good service. Some would have been meek and humble in face of the threat of a Communist-led army invading Ottawa and demanding the entire contents of the Federal treasury. "Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth." Maybe! The Communist doesn't believe it. Neither did Emmeline Pankhurst when she engaged in a militant campaign for "Votes for Women."

Never fear that worry will make you thin. Ask about a million fat folks.

If a man made fearful noises on the street between midnight and dawn he would be dragged to the "house-gow." Yet people who own howling dogs which bark at the moon and cause untold annoyance and loss of sleep to their neighbors up and down the street escape, except when, unable to bear it any longer, an irate householder sallies forth with a shotgun and wreaks vengeance on an offending canine whose owner is more to blame than the dog. In London if a car owner toots his horn between 10:30 p.m. and 7 a.m., he is fined. A hundred dogs may howl, and droves of cows and horses may stampede through the streets here. Can one be criticized if he takes the law into his own hands?

One night, after being kept awake by a cow with a big bell clanging, we sallied forth with the largest knife we could find in the kitchen with the intention—not of murdering the cow, but of cutting the blasted bell from its neck. Even then we were frustrated, for after stealing up stealthily on the bovine creature we found its bell was padlocked with a chain, and nothing except a cold chisel and a heavy hammer and anvil could have dislodged that noise-maker. Again we thought of the text: "Blessed are the meek," etc. Who would remain meek under such provocation? We believe in being kind to animals, but there is a limit.

The number of houses being improved by owners shows that pride of home is uppermost. Increased employment gives people the opportunity to demonstrate they regard home as their castle.

Anglers are not reporting any good catches so far. Evidently the fish are becoming very wary, or there are very few left. Before the advent of motor cars fish were plentiful in the creeks. Now it is the exception to the rule to get a good catch, and over-enthusiastic anglers are tempted to fish in closed streams. But, as crime doesn't pay, neither does fishing in closed streams, unless you are prepared to sacrifice your fishing tackle and pay a stiff fine and undergo the humiliation of appearing before the magistrate and being branded as a poor sport.

It has been said that rest is rust. Not so with a summer vacation after a busy year of work. Their rest is oil for the wheels of far and makes the old machine run smoother for another year.

Last year Honorable Harry Stevens, member of parliament for our neighboring constituency of East Kootenay, published a booklet on things he had discovered in the evidence given before the Price Spreads Commission. He didn't tell Premier Bennett what he was doing, with the result that the Honorable Richard became incensed and made things so uncomfortable for Stevens that he subsequently quitted the cabinet in which he had been minister of trade and commerce.

Now Harry has become so encouraged by letters he has received urging him to organize a new party that the enthusiasm of would-be supporters will be given a chance to use their energy to the limit. They possibly will become as enthusiastic as Alberta Social Creditors; in fact, Aberhart's entrance into the realm of Federal politics. Things become more foggy all the time, and confusion is added to confusion.

A HOME FOR STRAYS

Early in the morning a strangely-shaped dog made himself acquainted in approved dog-like fashion by wagging his tail and displaying a friendly attitude. He needed little coaxing to follow us to the office, where the staff were puzzled to determine to which breed he belonged. He was not a "Scottie," though his head resembled that breed. He wasn't stand-offish enough to be classed as of that type. His body was long, like that of a German dachshund, and his legs were short. We sized him up from various angles, making many mistakes as to his origin. He hunted up the old bones and made himself so much at home inside of fifteen minutes, in the absence of "Oswald," the Boston pup, that we concluded in spite of his distinguished or eccentric appearance, that under the skin he was "just dog."

RETAILERS HELD MEETING

On Thursday evening in the council chamber most of the local merchants met to discuss the present closing hours of stores and to consider if any changes were advisable. Under the present agreement, not covered by by-law, store hours are from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., early closing on Wednesday at 1 p.m. throughout the year, and at 7:30 p.m. on Saturdays. Stores also close from 12:15 to 1:15 p.m. daily.

It was decided to make no changes, neither was it decided to press for a by-law governing the hours.

As far as the public is concerned, there have been no complaints on the present hours, with the exception of the closing in the noon hour. This causes inconvenience, many customers state, so that it would be well to consider the keeping open of stores during the noon hour. A particularly bad feature is that people passing through will not wait for stores to re-open at 1 o'clock but will pass on to other places.

LADY NANCY ASTOR

Considerable discussion is revolving about "Lady Nancy Astor" as she is referred to by the press in the States. It has to do with the possibilities of her filling the position of Minister of Education in the new British cabinet.

The cost of living, which reached its peak in 1920, has declined; but on the 1913 basis it is still much higher than the price of gasoline. In 1934 the cost of living was 20.7 per cent. higher but the price of gasoline was 28.4 per cent lower than in 1913. The data for this graph are based on figures published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

LIVING COSTS MORE BUT GASOLINE COSTS LESS

THE cost of living in Canada in 1934 was approximately 21 per cent. higher and the price of gasoline 28 per cent. lower than in 1913. The price of gasoline never rose to as high a peak as did the cost of living. Since 1920 gasoline prices have declined almost continuously to the present low level.

Imperial Oil has always sought for economical ways of doing business and has always passed on to the consumer the benefits of such economies. Imperial Oil operates on a very small profit and in 1934 earned an average of slightly more than one-half of one cent per gallon on gasoline.

Not only is gasoline cheaper than ever—it is better than ever. Imperial Oil research laboratories played a leading part in developing fuels for modern motors. Imperial gasoline of 1935 is a far better gasoline than that of 1913 yet it sells at a price considerably lower.

Letters to The Editor

MR. WHITESIDE WRITES TO THE JOURNAL
Reads With Interest the Activities of Old Friends and Local News

Sarnia, July 8, 1935.

Dear Mr. Halliwell:
Please allow me to join in with the other friends who have complimented you recently on the occasional splash of red on the front page of your paper and the improved printing since the installation of your new press.

We are specially interested in your local news items as you will well know and on arrival here your pages are eagerly scanned by each member of our family.

Like a lot of other people, I presume the writer has been saving some flowers for your demise, but I have for a long time been pleased to notice how frequently portions of your editorial and comments were quoted in daily press throughout the country and for many years back, I assure you, I have never missed reading them from beginning to end.

We arrived here safely about a month ago after a trip of 1,957 miles from Calgary without detour, and, strange to say, with no rain, although you had plenty before we left, and we have had downpours since arrival here a great deal of the time. The weather en route and ever since has been comfortably cool and the roads, though not paved all the way, are extremely good and we are now in a position to advise Coleman friends regarding the very best routing east if and when they inquire. We also hope that they will not pass this way without giving us a call.

As a matter of fact, we never fail to flag every Alberta license we happen to see and in that way we have met several Calgary and Edmonton people.

We are, just now, enjoying a very fine water carnival, and under separate cover I am mailing you a copy of last night's "Observer" and also their carnival section of the 18th of June, which may be of interest to you.

With kindest regards and best wishes,
Yours sincerely,
O. E. S. WHITESIDE

Re School Appointment

Last week under "School Board Notes," brief announcement was made of Miss Margaret Allan being appointed to the high school staff to succeed Miss Gwen Brown. No details could be obtained in response to The Journal's request for a report on the meeting, and it was from outside sources that this paper obtained the news.

Enquiries have been made by many ratepayers of the reason for the school trustees' decision, therefore to fully explain their action the following letter is published at the request of Miss Brown:

COLEMAN SCHOOL DISTRICT No. 1216.

July 3, 1935.

Dear Miss Brown:

At a meeting of the school board held last night it was decided not to re-engage you for the 1935-36 school term. While the board has no fault to find with your work during the term that has just expired, they felt that as yourself and Miss Allan are the only local teachers qualified to teach high school and as you have just completed a year's teaching and gained that much experience, the work should

The Confident-Courageous Life

By JOHN EDWIN PRICE

Every day the news despatches convey the stories of men and women who have lost their grip. These suicides have not been confident of their ability to eventually overcome their handicaps or difficulties.

One of our readers recently wrote and asked how he could attain the confident-courageous attitude toward life. He also wanted to know how he could gain more personal power.

The recipe is simple although a thousand pages would not exhaust a detailed elaboration. The difficulty comes in following it.

Having confidence in one's source is often an aid to gaining confidence in one's powers. The first stepping of many religious systems of thought is the idea that the soul of man is of the same essence as the Infinite Creator. Those who need to gain confidence in their inherent powers would do well to think of this several times a day. They should read all they can supporting this idea.

When they have firmly fixed in the mind who and what they are they will very often find that the cringing, fearful attitude has been crowded out in much the same manner as light pushes back darkness. Having gained an inner confidence a man may still lack the force to express it outwardly courageously.

In similar mental mood a man may be confident in his own mind that he can lift two hundred pounds of sand. However, when he has actually done it he isn't afraid to tackle any two hundred pound sack of sand, no matter who is looking. Then he has confirmed courageous-confidence. But how can he get to do it? Easy! By practicing at every opportunity on twenty-five pounds of sand and then fifty and then an hundred and then an hundred and fifty and finally on the two hundred. If he never masters the two hundred he will come much nearer doing so than as though he had not followed this method.

The same method will do much in the matter of developing untried confidence into confirmed courageous confidence. One should begin the developing process by doing and saying things of which he is only a little bit timid.

Ran With The Hounds

Fox Used Great Cunning In Making Its Escape

During a meet of the Boyle Harrier's Hunt in northern Ireland, a fox broke cover and started across country, with the hounds following in full cry. Shortly afterward the huntsman noticed what he thought was a strange dog running in the midst of the pack, but on getting closer he saw it was a fox. The intruder kept with the hounds, which intent on hunting another fox, took no notice of it. When the hunt was passing close to a brush-covered hill the "visitor" suddenly bolted into the brush and disappeared.

Dies In Poverty

Here Was Rewarded With Medals. But Could Not Get Work

They pinned medals on Salvatore Bracco, Italian-born American seaman, a few years ago for his heroism in two rescues on the high seas.

When the S.S. President Harding saved the crew of the stricken freighter Ignazio Florio in 1925, Bracco was the first into the lifeboat which took 38 men from the freighter just as it sank. He got medals from five cities and a scroll from Benito Mussolini for that.

Greater recognition came in 1929 when the S.S. America rescued the crew of the ship Florida off the Virginia Capes. First to volunteer for the lifeboat crew, Bracco directed the rescue work. Former Mayor James J. Walker gave him a medal for his heroism when his ship reached New York. Later he received the congressional medal of honor, two more medals from Italy and six from American cities.

Seaman Bracco died in New Jersey recently in poverty. Ill with heart trouble, Bracco had been supporting his wife and son on a weekly relief grant of $7.50. "Those who pinned medals on me and shook my hand wouldn't give me a job," he complained, bitterly to his son a week before he died.

Cavell Grave Neglected

Resting Place Of Martyred War Nurse Is Uncared For

Complaints that the grave of Edith Cavell, the martyred World War nurse, is neglected have aroused indignation in England. Visitors to Norwich declare that evidently no care is given it. Nurse Cavell was born at Swardeston, a village four miles from Norwich, and lies buried in Life's Green, close to Norwich Cathedral. Some time ago the public was asked to protest against the scant attention paid to her last resting place, which many people from all parts come on pilgrimage to see. The responsible authorities, apparently the Dean and Chapter, took the matter in hand, but to day fresh criticism is made of the condition of the grave. It is said that it is covered with rough gravel and seemingly had been a playground of dogs. On it lay the remains of a wreath of artificial poppies and a few bedraggled daffodils.

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

SOUP CHERRY JELLY

3½ cups (1½ lbs.) sugar
7 cups (3 lbs.) juice
1 bottle fruit pectin

To prepare juice, stem and crush about three pounds ripe cherries. Do not pit. Add ¼ cup water, bring to a boil, cover, and simmer 10 minutes. (For stronger cherry flavor add ¼ teaspoon almond extract before pouring.) Place fruit in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. Measure sugar and bring to large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over hottest fire, and at once add bottled fruit pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard ½ minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin at once. Makes about 10 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).

STRAWBERRY FROSTING

2½ cups confectioners' sugar
¼ cup sweetened condensed milk
¼ cup fresh strawberry pulp
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Stir sifted confectioners' sugar into sweetened condensed milk. Force enough strawberries through coarse sieve to make ¼ cup pulp; add with lemon juice to first mixture. Beat until smooth and creamy. Spread on cold cake. Makes enough frosting to cover top and sides of loaf cake, top of 2 (9-inch) layers or about 1½ dozen cup cakes.

New Powerful Ray

Nazi newspapers reported a new radio-active micro-wave had been discovered in Germany. Scientists declared the new ray was more powerful than the Hertzian rays and would be of great value in signalling the approach of ships. A ship coming into contact with the ray-beam would immediately signal its location through a loudspeaker installed on the vessel sending out the waves, it was said.

National Youth Administration

United States Offering American Youths A Chance In The World

President Roosevelt has established a "national youth administration" to meet what he called a "great national need" by offering unemployed youth of the United States a week in school, their turn as apprentices and their opportunity for jobs.

The new agency will be under the work relief program. The president set aside $50,000,000 to be used in providing work, apprenticeships in private industry, in offering high school and college training for those between 16 and 25, and in giving relief to youths.

The new undertaking was put under the direction of Miss Josephine Roche, assistant secretary of the treasury, and Aubrey Williams, assistant to Harry L. Hopkins, works progress administrator.

Mr. Roosevelt, in announcing the plan to aid an estimated 500,000 of young men and girls, said:

"I have determined we shall do something for the nation's unemployed youth because we can ill afford to lose the skill and energy of these young men and women."

An average payment of $15 a month for youths on work relief was fixed; $6 a month would be given to those going to high school and $15 a month to youths in college.

PATTERN 5374

Top your dress with handmade neckwear and you'll be right in step with Fashion's latest. With knitting needles clicking wherever one goes, you will be right in the swim if you knit your neckwear. If crocheting is your choice, the lovely lacy jabot will fill your bill. The round collar in perie cotton is knitted in a simple lacy stitch—points solid, the open part in a fastening effect. The vestee with turn down collar is straight ahead knitting in a simple pattern that is repeated throughout. And the whole thing is made of two straight strips, so what could be easier? The crocheted jabot is in one straight piece joined at the center. It is lacy and has the flare that makes a jabot graceful.

In pattern 5374 you will find complete instructions for making the two knitted collars and the crocheted jabot shown; an illustration of them and of the stitches needed; material requirements.

NAOMI

(A Woman Of Faith And Courage)

Golden text: "A woman that fear-eth the Lord, she shall be praised." Proverbs 31:30.
Devotional reading: Proverbs 31:10-20.
Lesson: Book of Ruth.

Explanations And Comments

Elimelech and Naomi Leave Bethlehem for Moab, Ruth 1:1-5. To escape a famine in the days of the Judges, an ancient Hebrew family of Bethlehem, Elimelech and his wife Naomi with their two sons, left Canaan for the land of Moab, a land unloved by the Hebrews because it had blocked the passage of their forefathers through the desert and had allied itself with Midian against Israel.

The sons each married a daughter of Moab. Ten years passed, and Naomi and her daughters-in-law, Orpah and Ruth, were left alone, the father and sons having found their graves in the alien soil.

The Parting of Naomi and Orpah, Ruth 1:6-14. Naomi determined to return to her home in Bethlehem, and her daughters accompanied her short distance on her way. Parvells seldom take place in the house in the East. When Naomi thought they had gone far enough to show fitting respect for her, she stopped to dismiss them. "Go," she bade; "return each of you to her mother's home."

"Jehovah grant you that you may find rest, each of you, in the house of your husband," Naomi continued. The two girls wept and said, "Nay, but we will return with you to your people," but Naomi continued to insist upon their return, reminding them that she was old and could not marry them. It was the law that the next of kin in the family of a dead husband was to marry his widow. Against this law (Moffatt's translation) and Orpah turned back. Ruth clung to Naomi.

Naomi and Ruth Arrive in Bethlehem, Ruth 1:19-22. The women of Bethlehem began to talk wondrously, and yet pitifully, it would seem, when they saw Naomi after ten years' absence. It seemed as if she were a stranger, and for the time being she became bitter, and accused God of dealing bitterly with her, for the contrast of her present condition with that of her happy past in Bethlehem was too great. She had gone away with a husband and two sons, and now had returned without them. When the women exclaimed, "Is this Naomi?" she answered, "Call me not Naomi (Winemere, Pleasant), call me Mara (Bitter)." But sweetness and peace came again to Naomi.

Abandon System

Ontario Is To Discontinue Relief Work On Roads

Hon. Peter Heenan, Ontario minister of lands and forests and northern development, announced at Port Arthur at a banquet in celebration of the opening of the Great Lakes section of the Trans-Canada highway that the Ontario government will, in future, let contracts for its road building.

The relief camp system, under which jobless worked at highway construction at least twice as expensive as the method proposed by the government, he said. A mile of road could be built by a contractor, for half the cost of the relief camp system.

Under the camp system, Mr. Heenan said, with a $5 a month allowance for the men, a section of road in northwestern Ontario had cost $55,000. A contractor would build it for half that amount and would have paid fair wages.

Dr. McCrae, Brother Of Canadian Poet, Dies In Philadelphia

Dr. Thomas McCrae, widely-known physician and author of medical works, died recently in Philadelphia, weakened from an operation. He was 64 years of age.

Native of Ontario, Dr. McCrae was a brother of the Canadian poet, John McCrae, a lieutenant-colonel in the Canadian Army Corps. He was an associate of Sir William Osler.

For 23 years, Dr. McCrae had been professor of medicine at Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia. In 1927 he was physician to J. Ramsey MacDonald, when the then prime minister of England visited the United States.

To Fit The Crime

In England, says the Toronto Star, motorists convicted of reckless driving have their driving licenses suspended for two years. In Czechoslovakia the policeman does not arrest a speedster and cause him to be fined. He stops the car, lets the air out of all four tires so that the speedster has to carry a while and pump his tires full again.

All men are born free and equal, but most of them get married.

Little Journeys In Science

ATOMS

(By Gordon H. Quest, M.A.)

Many years ago John Dalton, an English chemist, gave to science a very important discovery concerning the structure of matter. This theory, which is known as the atomic theory of matter, assumes that every chemical element, such as oxygen, iron, or gold, is made up of small indivisible particles called atoms; that the atoms of different chemical elements have different weights, but those of a given element are alike and constant in weight; and that chemical compounds, such as common salt and water, are formed by the chemical union of the atoms of different elements. Thus, an atom of different form the smallest particle, known as the molecule, of table salt, while two atoms of hydrogen combine with one atom of oxygen to form a molecule of water.

Recent studies of the properties of matter force scientists to assume the existence of particles still more minute than atoms; so Dalton's idea of the atom has been changed somewhat. The modern scientist believes that all matter is made up of tiny particles of negative and positive electricity, respectively known as electrons and protons. Although a proton weighs as much as 1845 electrons, its positive charge is exactly equal to the negative charge of an electron. Each pulls as much as the other.

There are 92 elements and hence there are 92 kinds of atoms. Every atom, consisting of only one proton and one electron, are the lightest of atoms. Helium, the heaviest, having 238 protons, and 238 electrons. In all atoms, the electrons are alike and interchangeable. They are standardized bricks used in all sorts of buildings. It is believed that the electrons are revolving around the protons, like the planets in the centre or nucleus, very much as the earth and the other planets revolve around the sun.

Under normal conditions the diameter of a hydrogen atom is estimated to be about a hundred millionth of a centimetre (one hundred metres equal 1 inch), which appears to be about twice the usual distance of an electron from the nucleus. A size of an electron is not known with accuracy but it is a very small fraction of the size of the whole atom. The nucleus, or central sun, appears to be still smaller. Thus an atom is largely a vacuum. It has been calculated that the nucleus of a helium atom were represented by a pea, its two planetary electrons could be represented by two peas a quarter of a mile away. The electron of the hydrogen atom travels around its tiny orbit very rapidly, going, under normal conditions, at the rate of several hundred miles per second. This means that it has to revolve seven and a half times in one second. These facts show that electrons and atoms are far too small for our comprehension of the size of the world of the atom. Infinitely little. It is a marvelous fact that these tiny particles of matter, as radium, which are continually breaking down into other elements.

Secret Of Magic Sword

Weapon Of Serbian Heroes Was Made Of Nickel Steel

The old Serbian "heroes" of the Dark Ages, according to legend, wore armor made of "magic swords" which cut through their enemies' armor. Now a mining prospector, examining ancient workings in old Serbia, believes he has discovered the secret of those "magic" weapons. They were made, not of iron, but of nickel steel. In the old workings he came on a piece of metal which is probably the oldest piece of special steel in existence. In vain he tried to bore a hole in it. Finally he sent it to Vienna to be examined. Here again difficulty was experienced in piercing it and an analysis showed that it was nickel steel of peculiar hardness. The circumstances under which this piece of steel was found suggest that it is at least 1,000 years old—that is, it was in existence 950 years before nickel steel was rediscovered.

Actor Stops The Show

A comic singer wearing a hat of the Mouslin type caused a theatre to be closed by the police in the port of Braila, Roumania. His act contained an ironical song at the expense of Signor Mussolini, which was a considerable success—until the Italian consul heard of it. The following day the police closed the doors of the theatre.

SYNOPSIS

Nancy Nelson is a sub-deb, a gay, irresponsible girl of nineteen, with no care beyond the choice of her costume for her coming-out party. Suddenly, in the market crash, her indulgent father loses all he had, and his family is faced with the necessity of a simpler method of living. At this juncture a letter is received from an eccentric relative in Colorado, who offers the girl a home on what seems to be impossible conditions. After much consideration Cousin Columbine's offer is accepted, and Nancy and Jack arrive at Pine Ridge. They are met at the railway station by Cousin Columbine, who in turn introduces Mark and Matthew Adams, two neighbors of Aunt Columbine, and the party set out for Pine Ridge, which village causes dismay to both Nancy and Jack because of its dilapidated appearance and general lack of poverty.

No Go On With The Story

"It's gorgeous, isn't it?" breathed Nancy, truly impressed. "I—I'm sure I'm going to love this room." Cousin Columbine smiled.

"It's our best, and I'm glad to see that you appreciate it. Jack will be next to you with only a door between. I sleep downstairs; and as I stated in my letter, Aurora goes home at night. Victor Tubbs is an invalid, or thinks he is, which amounts to the same thing, and his wife has supported him for years; a state of affairs that satisfies them both, though it makes me furious. However, it's none of my business; and if Aurora wants to work her fingers to the bone for such a lazy specimen, why worry, as Mark Adam would say? Now I'll leave you in peace. No doubt you'll prefer to unpack alone though Aurora was itching to see your wardrobe, and if she had, not so much as a safety pin would have escaped her eyes, and the account would have been spread from one end of Pine Ridge to the other before she slept tonight."

The old lady moved toward the door, then stopped to add: "If you need a lamp, the matches are in that tin box on the wall. Supper's at six sharp, so Aurora can get home to feed her precious Victor. There's water in the pitcher; but you may wash in the bathroom if you prefer."

She was gone at last, leaving Nancy rather breathless with instruc-

RELIEVE PERIODIC PAIN

If you suffer from periodic pain and discomfort, try Lydia E. Pinkham's Tablets. In most cases they bring welcome relief. As Mrs. Caroline Newman says, "They ease the pain."

Mrs. Raymond Chapin, Route 4, Tilbury, Ont., says, "I suffered something terrible. Had such backaches and headaches I was worn out. Your Tablets helped me. Let them help you, too. Ask your druggist."

Lydia E. Pinkham's TABLETS

tions. Jack had departed to his own quarters, and the girl stood quite still, looking about curiously. She had meant the view, of course, when she told Cousin Columbine that she loved the room. Now, sitting down suddenly on a straight, uncomfortable "bedroom chair," she wondered how it was possible to get so many ugly things into one place.

The bed! Towering black walnut, ornately carved. It was cold comfort to remember that her grandfather had had one almost as hideous at Edgemere. A bureau to match; even a washstand, behind which hung a square of linen to protect the wall paper. Hadn't she heard somewhere that they were called "placards" in the dark ages when people used such things?

Nancy arose to regard this curious antique on which, embroidered in red cotton, was an infant splashing happily in a wash bowl, with the words, "Our Darling," below it. Horrors! Must she live with that monstrous baby for months and months? Must she wash in that bowl—even brush her teeth into it?

The girl could have wept for her own tiled dressing room; then remembered that it was hers no longer, anyway. She turned slowly to observe a marble-topped table between the windows—a patent rocking chair upholstered in flowered carpet—on which stood two blue vases and what appeared to be a mound of mineral specimens mysteriously glued together, with a clock in the centre, a silent timepiece now, probably useless save as an "ornament."

Nancy's eyes lifted to the wall paper, a nondescript, faded tan, which, she decided, "might be worse." But the pictures (only two, thank goodness) were simply terrible: an oil painting of a deformed looking kitten playing with a ball of yarn, and a steel engraving of General Grant. Could anything be more depressing.

As if to get away from all these objects, Nancy moved to a window, half sick at thought of the long weeks ahead. Night was descending, and even the Peak, rising now against a gloomy sky, looked austere and forbidding. All the excitement of their arrival—the elation she had felt during the wonderful ride in Mark Adams's river—her interest in this new part of her own country—even the girl's sense of humor, were lost in an attack of overwhelming homesickness.

Aunt Louise had been right, she told herself. They shouldn't have come so far away. This terrible room! What would the girls at home think if they could see that wasteland? And the pin-cushion. Why it was bigger than a boudoir pillow! And what in the world was she going to do with her when they arrived—the elation she had felt during the wonderful ride in Mark Adams's river—her interest in this new part of her own country—even the girl's sense of humor, were lost in an attack of overwhelming homesickness.

"I'll write to-night and tell Dad everything. Didn't he say that homesickness might as well be fatal? He'll understand. He'll send for me if he has to borrow money for the ticket. Jack will call me a slacker, but who cares? I just can't stand it here. I'd almost rather die than stay. What can there possibly be to interest a girl like me in a dreariness, ramshackle, down-at-the-heels settlement like Pine Ridge, Colorado?"

Later Nancy was to realize that as she stood there, oblivious to everything save self-pity, she hadn't known what sort of girl she was.

CHAPTER VIII.

"There's nothing," observed Jack from the door of his north-east bedroom, "like good, thick, sirloin steak to bolster up a morose that's slipping. Remember that, Sis."

It was eleven at night, and Nancy, attired in a wadded dressing gown of crimson silk, turned from the bureau to ask coldly: "May I inquire whose morale you have in mind?" Her brother smiled as he investigated the patent rocking chair.

"I'm no morose," Jack questioned. "Very nearly. It was a blank spot then. Except for the big pine beside the barn, Father planted every tree himself after he built the mansion."

"But why, when there was plenty of land to choose from, didn't you build back in the woods where it was sheltered?"

"Fear of two things," responded Cousin Columbine. "Fire, and Indians. If the savages were to at-

came nearer, whispering: "Did you ever see anything more—more soul destroying than this room?"

Jack grinned, gesturing with a thumb toward his own quarters. "You should see mine! Not even a view, my dear; and it lacks this handsome walnut furniture." The boy's eyes shone with merriment; and though she wouldn't have believed such a proceeding possible a few hours earlier, Nancy laughed a little. She didn't realize that after a leave of absence her sense of humor was returning, but she knew that something made her feel better.

"It was a wonderful supper, wasn't it?" she murmured.

"Trust you to appreciate it! And what swell china! I wish Aunt Lou could see it."

"It came from Denver in 18—well, eighteen—something—or other—anyway. There's a complete dinner set. Imagine choosing that awful green-brown pattern! And Cousin Columbine's so proud of it, too. How can she not remember the date that everything was purchased?"

Jack shook his head, remarking in muffled tones: "She's a wonder, isn't she? Who else would have thought of cooking up that letter as a—well, did she call it? Character."

"You've got an awful lot to live up to, Sis, if you ask me. Hop into bed. I'll open the windows. And don't forget that breakfast's at seven sharp."

Sleep did not come quickly to Nancy that night. She lay there under a patchwork quilt (whose weight, she wrote Aunt Judy later, was "almost crushing"), and thought about the evening that had just passed. There must be some truth in Jack's statement regarding the sirloin steak. What else could account for her more cheerful frame of mind? For Nancy had been ravenous despite that slice of chocolate cake—the ugly, green-brown china, and a lamp in the centre of the table that was homely enough to ruin almost anybody's appetite.

There was no doubt that Aurora could cook a steak; and with unexpected tact, Jack had done most of the talking, leaving his sister free to get herself in hand after what she now called her "brain storm." And when Aurora had gone, Jack carried that awful lamp into the sitting room and Cousin Columbine remarked casually, though her eyes twinkled: "I suppose you're thinking me an outrageous humbug. Sit down, my dear, and write a letter."

This confession with its illuminating detours into the past, had kept Cousin Nelson talking until long after her customary bedtime.

"I'm going clear back to the beginning," she explained, "so you'll understand, if possible, just why I posed as a tottering old relic, too frail to stay alone at night. The truth is that I was going to be afraid of here, and if there were wouldn't turn a hair. To one who can remember the Indian troubles of 1868, and as a child has hidden for hours in fear of hostile savages, well—you can readily see why an ordinary prowler would be tame in comparison."

She looked up, smiling; while Jack, eyes peeping out of his head, exclaimed: "You really lived through things like that?"

"Why not?" asked the old lady calmly. "This was nothing but wilderness when I was born. As you've heard tell, my first husband was a covered wagon which, naturally, I don't remember. I do remember a house with a dirt floor and a stone fireplace in one corner, however; and dimly recall the furniture made from poles and rough-hewn lumber. It was home, and nothing to be ashamed of because no one else nearby had anything better."

"But wasn't it frightfully cold?" said Nancy. "A dirt floor, I mean?"

"I suppose it must have been—at this altitude; but Mother took care that I shouldn't suffer, of course. I can remember being tucked up on the bed with quilts all round me, watching the snow swirl against a tiny window, and loving it—I was so warm and cozy! It was my mother who suffered. Men can stand hardships better than women; and even in those days Father seemed always to be—well, my dears, to express it as you would, he seemed to be having the time of his young life."

"Did that cabin stand where this house does now?" Jack questioned.

"Very nearly. It was a blank spot then. Except for the big pine beside the barn, Father planted every tree himself after he built the mansion."

"But why, when there was plenty of land to choose from, didn't you build back in the woods where it was sheltered?"

"Fear of two things," responded Cousin Columbine. "Fire, and Indians. If the savages were to at-

WAS CONSTIPATED FOR 30 YEARS

Woman's Long Search for a Remedy

The trouble with most remedies for constipation, as this woman found, is that they give only temporary relief. Having at last found a permanent corrective, she writes to tell us about it.

"For upwards of 30 years I was a victim of acute constipation. I tried practically everything that it was possible to try. I admit I was a chronic case, and every new remedy I tried helped for a day or two—after that I and my friends remark how well I am looking. My only regret is that I didn't try Kruschen years ago." (Mrs.) A. M. Kruschen sells his Nature's recipe for maintaining a condition of internal cleanliness. The six salts in Kruschen stimulate your internal organs to smooth, regular action. Your system is thus kept clear of those imbalances which allowed to build up, lower the whole tone of the system.

Jack us, we at least had a chance to see them approaching if we were in the open. And a forest fire is a terrible thing in the wilderness, Jack. I recall when I was a tiny girl, watching one at night with my courageous little mother. We were all alone, Father having gone to California Gulch in search of gold. Looking back on those times, I don't see how she endured his absence, even though there were other cabins not far away. That fire was a terrifying sight, my dears. It must have been miles off, but looked almost near enough to touch. The growth was very thick and tall just then, and the flames seemed to leap from tree to tree, and as they reached the top, shot up into the air, far up, higher than you'd believe possible, before subsiding. I have never forgotten it."

Nancy shivered; and Cousin Columbine continued: "So you see why we built in this bare place."

"And did your father find the gold?" Jack questioned.

"Not then. Not ever to any great amount. It was Leadville silver which built this mansion; but poor Mother never saw it. She died in 1874, when I was fifteen. A wonderful woman, my dears. She had the true pioneer spirit, but not the body to stand up under the pioneer hardships. She was only thirty-five when she left us to join my little brother who died in infancy."

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

THE DREAMER SINGS

Give me a star in the tree tops
And a willow tree by the wall,
Then you of the world can have your world

With its splendor and pride and all!

Ever the star has charmed me
As in depths of space it has swung,
And the whispering leaves have brought me peace
With the little songs they have sung.

Echoes have reached me faintly
From the world which lies without,
I have heard of its subtlety and pain,
Of its mazes of hate and doubt.

Give me a star for promise
And a tree to sing me to rest,
Then you who love toil and bitter strife
Can have my share of the quest!

Sound travels four times faster through water than it does through air.

Historic Rock Blasted

30-Foot Lip Overhanging Gorge Slips Away

With flashes of flame and a rumbling that introduced a new note into the age-old symphony of the Niagara cataract, 2,000 tons of rock were hurled into the gorge at the foot of the falls at Niagara Falls, July 1st, as two explosions shattered part of Table Rock, famed look-out point at the brink of the falls.

While a holiday crowd estimated at 40,000 persons viewed the brief spectacle from United States and Canadian sides of the river, 1,000 tons were blown into the gorge. Scenic beauty and contour of the falls was unaffected.

Preparations for the blast have gone on for a month. Eighty-five holes, each 15 feet deep, were drilled into the lip which had a length of 150 feet and a thickness of 15 feet. Into each were placed three sticks of dynamite and the pounds of black powder which the hole had been dried by compressed air.

The ledge, estimated by parks commission officials to contain more than 5,000 tons of rock, was blasted because a 30-foot lip overhanging the gorge—the spot which came to be called Honeymoon Point, after visits of scores of honeymooners—was declared unsafe due to erosion.

Great Aid To Buyers

Newspaper Advertising Helps People Who Purchase By Phone

Modern life is much different today from what it was a decade ago. To-day, a great deal of buying is done over the telephone.

This, in turn, means that opportunities for purchases advantageous to the buyers are now almost completely centred in newspaper advertising.

The modern housewife knows what she wants, knows by brand name, and orders in that manner—because advertisements has taught her how she should do it and why it is profitable for her to do so.

Imagine ordering from an unknown grocer "some breakfast food," "some bacon," "some coffee," "some bread"—and so on, and in the olden days before advertising became the powerful force it is today!

First Horseless Brigade

May Decide Future Organization of British Army

The first horseless brigade in history has taken the field under its commander, Major-General H. M. Wilson, and has fought its first "engagement."

This experimental brigade may decide what the future organization of the British Army is to be.

The elimination of the horse and mule has brought about a collection of steel substitutes varying in utility and speed from the pedal bicycle and motorcycle to the high-powered automobile and truck.

General Wilson and his officers will study the problem of the efficiency of cars and trucks in the replacement of chargers and mule teams.

What's wrong with this Mustard, Mary? It's very poor stuff! Why John—

I thought I was getting a bargain—a big bag for 10c.

"It's no bargain at any price! I'll bet you would get more actual mustard in 10c worth of Keen's than you would out of any 10c substitute. The extra bulk is only flour, ground up hulls and colouring matter!"

"You're right! From this time on I'm going to stick to Keen's."

KEEN'S D.S.F. MUSTARD

Made from seed grown especially in the Fens of England. The shells or hulls are removed, all the virtue being in the inner part of the seed. A superior quality makes the full flavor readily available. In original tins for 41 cents as 10c.

Little Helps For This Week

The righteous shall be glad in the Lord and shall trust in him. Psalm 44:10.

The heart that trusts forever sings.
A well of peace within it springs,
Come good or ill,
Whatever today, tomorrow brings,
It is His will.

He will weave no longer a spotted life of shreds and patches, but he will live with a divine unity. He will cease from what is base and frivolous in his life, and be content with all places and with any service he can render. He will calmly front the morrow in the negligency of trust that carries God with it, and so hath already the whole future in his hand.—R. W. Emerson.

He who believes in God is not careful for the morrow but labors joyfully and with a great heart. He must work and watch, yet never be careful or anxious, but commit all to Him and live in serene tranquility; with a quiet heart as one who sleeps safely.—Martin Luther.

Enters Gentle Class

The breathless union is almost ready to make its appearance on the comic scene, Lloyd Shanklin, G.C.-F.P., president of the United Brotherhood of Vegetarians, announced, Shanklin said the new union was so different from the present fearful species that it didn't even taste like an onion. It is odorless and stainless.

Last fall Frank Barringham brought to Coleman a number of wrestlers to perform at the Community hall. It wasn't long however before the wise guys were telling everyone that the wrestlers were seventh riters and a bunch of "hams". On Monday evening one of those "hams" wrestled Dan. O'Mahoney for the world's wrestling championship. The "ham" performed here under the name of Chief Little Wolf. It would seem that even potential world champions are not good enough for the sporting fans of the Pass.
